1. The Game

1.1. Outline

In the Game of Intrigue, you compete against at least two other players.

You draw cards and trade them with other players to gain an advantage.

The most important cards are the  Standing cards. If you lose all your  Standing cards you are eliminated. You can play it safe and try to stay in the game or you can take risks and try to eliminate other players.

You win when everyone except you and another player is eliminated and you have the most combined card value OR by fulfilling a special role condition.

1.2. Setup

Separate the  Standing cards from the rest.

Each player gets 3  Standing cards. The rest are removed from the game.

Separate the  Colored and  Role cards from the rest.

Each player is assigned a  Color Token and gets a personal pile of their respective  Colored cards. The color token is put on the table in front of the player visible to everyone.

The  Role cards are shuffled and each player is dealt one to the bottom of their personal pile.

Mix the rest of the cards into the draw pile. Each player can now draw a total of 5 cards from the draw pile or their personal pile or a mix of both.

1.3. Phases

Each round all players go through these phases:

1.3.1. Discussion

- Players can openly or secretly (other room or with paper notes or messenger etc.) discuss the following round or future strategies.
- Lying and manipulation are allowed

1.3.2. Trade

- Everyone gets a Chance to Trade one card with a player of their choosing.
- A trade happens between two players:
  1. Each trading player...
    1. ...Offers a card
    2. ...Looks at the offered card
    3. ...Decides if they want to trade
  2. If any player wants to object to the trade they can now do so. Upon an accusation the legality of the traded cards is checked.
  3. If both parties decided to trade they each keep the card offered to them

1.3.3. Announcement

1. Each player puts one card face down in front of them
2. If anyone wants to announce their card they turn it around for everyone to see
3. Announcements get resolved (See 🗨 Social cards and 🗨 Testimony cards)
4. All the cards in front of the players get put on the discard pile

1.3.4. Vote

- Vote for someone to discard 1 🗳 Standing
  - ▶ On a draw no one has to discard 🗳 Standing

1.3.5. Draw

- Each player draws a new card from the draw pile or their personal pile
- If the draw pile is empty mix the discard pile into it

If a player has 0 Standing they loose and have to decide where they want to put their cards:

- on the discard pile
- into a player hand (inheritance)
  - the chosen player must discard the amount of cards they received

If only two players are left the player with the most combined card value wins.

Tip: Keep your cards hidden as long as possible.

You almost never have to show your cards to other players (see Visible on back).
